

Gulfnet Communications participates in International Telecommunication Union (ITU) 2014

Kuwait December 2014: Gulfnet Communications (Gulfnet), the first internet service provider and leader in information and communication technology (ICT) solutions in the Gulf region announced today its participation in the International Telecommunication Union (ITU) 2014, which will be held in Qatar on the 7th-10th December. The conference brings together public and private sectors, emerging and developed markets, experts and investors from across the ICT business.

Dr Ahmad Salih, Chairman of the Executive Board, commented, "ITU is an essential meeting point for the global and international telecommunications industry. This participation ensures our presence on an international level, which allows us to expand our business, keep up with the rapidly growing and changing industry trends, and strengthen the presence of Gulfnet as a leader in the market."

He added, "We are proud of being part of a conference of such importance, where participants will get the opportunity to discuss the latest innovations in the world of technology and communications, and broadband services in global markets including the competitiveness between companies and the services they offer. Gulfnet will engage in a number of workshops and discussion sessions that are part of the company's commitment to knowledge transfer and sharing best practices, while highlighting its experience in providing internet service in Kuwait and the region."

The company's participation reflects its commitment to taking active roles in important regional and international industry events and showcasing its expertise. It further builds on its leading position of providing internet services in Kuwait, along with the groundbreaking technology it continues to introduce across local and regional markets.

Participating in ITU is part of Gulfnet's growth strategy of contributing key business alliances with new partners, and establishing strategic connections with thought leaders across the industry on an international scale.

The company is a premier internet and online data services provider that offers secure, reliable, high-speed and any-to-any communications solutions in addition to a host of diversified, value added services in Kuwait and across the region. Gulfnet is a subsidiary of United Networks, which is a part of KIPCO Group.
